

Title:

Nursing The Organizational Space that Surrounds™: A quantum energy re-envisioning of Nightingale's focus of Nursing "on the creation of an environment so that natural healing may take place."

Abstract:

All matter is energy with the potential to change. This perspective re-envision the Nursing Meta Paradigm as; a value based way of being through self-reflection and intentionality manifested in a way of being "with". This occurs while holding the tensegrity of the Space That Surrounds™(Space) through a vibrational relationship that nurtures natural healing.

This concept of nursing promotes the development of the nurse's intentionality to reduce and eliminate system stress and aids in co-creating an adaptable and resilient Space that Surrounds™ ready to promote healing and wellbeing.

"How very little can be done under the spirit of fear?" stated Nightingale.

Organizations, like people, experience fear/anxiety as "chaos" disrupting the flow of information among the component parts creating instability and unhealthy outcomes."

The presentation includes a demonstration of the re-envisioned and expanded focus of nursing care on The Space that Surrounds,system, a synthesis of many energy systems. The Health Care Organization Space that Surrounds™ incorporates the Nurse's energetic "Space" to become a co-created agent of care that mitigates organizational and individual system anxiety.

A practice generated synthesis of nursing, systems, chaos theories, quantum energy and holistic principles support an innovative, foundational re-envisioning, of the four Meta paradigms. An innovative action research method with over 500 contacts over 14 years resulted in the development of the 4C's Frequencies Alignment Model and is the framework of the theoretical underpinnings for the "Space that Surrounds"™ Theory.

© 2019 Jalma Marcus